

Oregon State Bar Family Law Section Lawrence Gorin “Professor Award” NOMINATION FORM

Awarded for contributions to the Family Law Section.

Screening and Selection Criteria

- Any member of the Family Law Section, except a member of the Family Law Executive Committee (“FLEC”), is eligible to receive this award. Former nominees may be renominated. Members of the FLEC Awards Subcommittee may not submit nominations but may encourage others to submit nominations.

- The Lawrence Gorin “Professor Award” recognizes a member of the Family Law Section whose service stands out for the individual’s exemplary service and contributions to the Family Law Section, legal community, and makes the practice of law more fulfilling.

- The award is intended to recognize and honor personal contributions, reputation, and conduct. Leadership activities and service are considered key in the screening and selection process.

- Pro bono service will be considered in the screening process.

- The recipient should serve as a role model for other attorneys, particularly younger FLS members.

- Because the award recipient should serve as a role model, an appreciation of diversity in the nomination and selection processes is important. The FLEC recognizes the important contributions of all lawyers - men and women, minorities, those in public/government practice, in-house or private practice, solo or large firm practitioners, trial lawyers and non-litigators.

- The attached form is intended to give the committee information about your nominee. You may find that you have limited information in certain areas. That is expected. The committee does not expect a long narrative from you but rather a concise narrative about your nominee.

*** Standards and Guidelines on following page *****

Standards and Guidelines for Selection of Oregon State Bar Family Law Section Lawrence Gorin “Professor Award”

I. ELIGIBILITY

Any “active” attorney member of the Family Law Section, except current members of the Family Law Executive Committee (“FLEC”) is eligible to receive this award. Former nominees may be re-nominated.

II. SCREENING AND SELECTION CRITERIA

As described in Section III: (1) FLEC and the screening subcommittee are responsible for screening nominees for the “Professor Award” and recommending a list of finalists to FLEC; and (2) FLEC shall select the recipient of the award from the screening subcommittee's recommended finalists. The screening subcommittee shall apply the following criteria. The recipient should:

- A. Stand out for the individual’s exemplary service and contributions to the Family Law Section and legal community;
- B. Demonstrate exemplary relations with clients and the public;
- C. Promote trust and respect with colleagues and the public;
- D. Promote efficient resolution of disputes; and
- E. Make the practice of law fulfilling for those around them.

The award is intended to recognize and honor personal contributions, reputation, and conduct. Leadership activities and service within the bar or the community in general will be considered key in the screening and selection processes.

III. NOMINATION, SCREENING AND SELECTION PROCESS

A. Nominations

1. Nominations must be in writing and should describe the nominee’s qualifications using the above criteria.
2. FLEC shall begin soliciting nominations as soon as reasonably possible through announcements in the FLS newsletter, Family Law List Serve, and through any other relevant OSB publications.
3. All nominations shall be submitted to the FLEC screening subcommittee by no later than May 1 of each year.

B. Screening & Selection Process

1. The screening subcommittee shall consist of at least two members of FLEC.
2. The screening subcommittee shall meet a minimum of two times prior to the June FLEC meeting that is held in Salem. During the first meeting, the screening subcommittee shall review the nominations for the current year only.
3. The screening subcommittee shall use the Screening Criteria Questionnaire to guide their research to ensure that they obtain information about each of the selection criteria for each of the nominees. Using the information obtained from the nominations (including, as appropriate, finalists in prior years) as a starting point, the screening subcommittee may contact judges before whom candidates have appeared, opposing counsel, counsel with whom they have negotiated, and/or other pertinent sources. In addition, the screening subcommittee shall contact the Oregon State Bar's Regulatory Services Division and the Professional Liability Fund regarding all candidates identified as potential finalists for the award. The screening subcommittee shall compile their research on the Screening Criteria Questionnaire for FLS Award Nominees.
4. All information gathered by the screening subcommittee shall be confidential, and sources shall be given appropriate assurances of confidentiality. In addition, except as provided below, the screening subcommittee's discussions and deliberations shall be confidential.
5. By no later than June each year, the screening subcommittee shall report its recommendations to FLEC. The report shall include up to three names of nominees whom it recommends as qualified and deserving of the award and a written summary of the research that details how the nominee meets each of the award selection criteria.
6. The full Committee shall discuss the screening subcommittee report and recommendations at its June meetings and select a recipient by September of each year.
7. The FLEC meeting minutes shall convey the results of the selection and may briefly describe the Committee's deliberations.
8. FLEC shall announce the recipient of the Professor Award by September of each year and the presentation will be made at the next Family Law Conference.
